I, James Ramdhun, collect, use and is responsible for personal information about you. When I do this I am the 'controller' of this information within the meanings of Article 4(7) of the General Data Protection Regulations, Section 1(1) of the Data Protection Act 1998 and Section 108(8) of the Digital Economy Act 2017.

If you need to contact me about your data or the processing carried out you can use the contact details at the end of this document.

What do I do with your information?

Information collected

When carrying out the provision of legal services or providing a reference I collect some or all of the following personal information that you provide:

- a. personal details
- b. family details
- c. lifestyle and social circumstances.

- d. financial details
- e. education, training and employment details
- f. physical or mental health details
- g. racial or ethnic origin
- h. political opinions
- i. religious, philosophical or other beliefs
- j. trade union membership
- k. sex life or sexual orientation
- l. genetic data
- m. biometric data for the purpose of uniquely identifying a natural person
- n. details of any criminal proceedings, outcomes and sentences, and related security measures
- o. other personal data relevant to instructions to provide legal services, including data specific to the instructions in question.

Information collected from other sources.

The same categories of information may also be obtained from third parties, such as other legal professionals or experts, members of the public, your family and friends, witnesses, courts and other tribunals, investigators, government departments, regulators, public records and registers,

How I use your personal information: Purposes

I may use your personal information for the following purposes:

- i. to provide legal services to my clients, including the provision of legal advice and representation in courts, tribunals, arbitrations, and mediations
- ii. to keep accounting records and carry out office administration
- iii. to take or defend legal or regulatory proceedings
- iv. to respond to potential complaints or make complaints
- v. to check for potential conflicts of interest in relation to future potential cases
- vi. to promote and market my services
- vii. to carry out anti-money laundering and terrorist financing checks
- viii. to train other barristers and when providing intern or mini pupil experiences
- ix. to respond to requests for references
- x. when procuring goods and services

- xi. to publish legal judgments and decisions of courts and tribunals
- xii. as required or permitted by law.

Whether information has to be provided by you, and why

If I have been instructed by you or on your behalf on a case or if you have asked for a reference, your personal information has to be provided, to enable me to provide you with advice or representation or the reference, and to enable me to comply with my professional obligations, and to keep accounting records.

The legal basis for processing your personal information

I rely on the following as the lawful bases on which I collect and use your personal information:

- If you have consented to the processing of your personal information, then I may process your information for the Purposes set out above to the extent to which you have consented to me doing so.
- If you are a client, processing is necessary for the performance of a contract for legal services or in order to take steps at your request prior to entering into a contract.
- In relation to information which is in categories (g) to (o) above (these being categories which are considered to include particularly sensitive information and which include information about criminal convictions or proceedings) I rely on your consent for any processing for the purposes set out in purposes (ii), (iv), (vi), (viii) and (ix) above. I need your consent to carry out processing of this data for these purposes. However, if you do not consent to processing for purposes (iv) and (ix) (responding to potential complaints and providing a reference) I will be unable to take your case or to provide a reference. This is because I need to be able to retain all the material about your case until there is no prospect of a complaint and to provide an informed and complete reference.
- In relation to information in categories (g) to (o) above (these being categories which are considered to be particularly sensitive information and include information about criminal convictions or proceedings), I am entitled by law to process the information where the processing is necessary for legal proceedings, legal advice, or otherwise for establishing, exercising or defending legal rights.
- In relation to information which is not in categories (g) to (o) above, I rely on my legitimate interest and/or the legitimate interests of a third party in carrying out the processing for the Purposes set out above.
- In certain circumstances processing may be necessary in order that I can comply with a legal obligation to which I am subject (including carrying out anti-money laundering or terrorist financing checks).

- The processing is necessary to publish judgments or other decisions of courts or tribunals.

Who will I share your personal information with?

If you are a client, some of the information you provide will be protected by legal professional privilege unless and until the information becomes public in the course of any proceedings or otherwise. As a barrister I have an obligation to keep your information confidential, except where it otherwise becomes public or is disclosed as part of the case or proceedings.

It may be necessary to share your information with the following:

- data processors, such as my Chambers staff, interns, IT support staff, email providers, data storage providers

- the general public in relation to the publication of legal judgments and decisions of courts and tribunals data processors, such as my Chambers staff, interns, IT support staff, email providers, data storage providers
- public sources, such as the press, public registers and law reports.

Transfer of your information outside the European Economic Area (EEA)

This privacy notice is of general application and as such it is not possible to state whether it will be necessary to transfer your information out of the EEA in any particular case or for a reference. However, if you reside outside the EEA or your case or the role for which you require a reference involves persons or organisations or courts and tribunals outside the EEA then it may be necessary to transfer some of your data to that country outside of the EEA for that purpose. If you are in a country outside the EEA or if the instructions you provide come from outside the EEA then it is inevitable that information will be transferred to those countries. If this applies to you and you wish additional precautions to be taken in respect of your information, please indicate this when providing initial instructions.

Some countries and organisations outside the EEA have been assessed by the European Commission and their data protection laws and procedures found to show adequate protection. The list can be found here. Most do not. If your information has to be transferred outside the EEA, then it may not have the same protections and you may not have the same rights as you would within the EEA.

[I may transfer your personal information to the following which are located outside the European Economic Area (EEA):

- [cloud data storage services based in the USA who have agreed to comply with the EU-U.S. Privacy Shield, in order to enable me to store your data and/or backup copies of your data so that I may access your data when they need to. The USA does not have the same data protection laws as the EU but the EU-U.S. Privacy Shield has been recognised by the European Commission as providing adequate protection. To obtain further details of that protection see https://ec.europa.eu/info/law/law-topic/data-protection/data-transfers-outside-eu/eu-us-privacy-shield_en.]
- cloud data storage services based in Switzerland, in order to enable me to store your data and/or backup copies of your data so that I may access your data when I need to. Switzerland does not have the same data protection laws as the EU but has been recognised by the European Commission as providing adequate protection; see https://ec.europa.eu/info/law/law-topic/data-protection/data-transfers-outside-eu/adequacy-protection-personal-data-non-eu-countries_en.]

If I decide to publish a judgment or other decision of a Court or Tribunal containing your information, then this will be published to the world.

I will not [otherwise] transfer personal information outside the EEA [except as necessary for providing legal services or for any legal proceedings].

If you would like any further information please use the contact details at the end of this document.

How long will I store your personal data?

I will normally store all your information:

- until at least 1 year after the expiry of any relevant limitation period (which will usually be 6 years, but may be 12 years, or longer where the case includes information relating to a minor), from [the date of the last item of work carried out, the date of the last payment received or the date on which all outstanding payments are written off, whichever is the latest/whatever other end point is chosen]. This is because it may be needed for potential legal proceedings/ other period – provide justification]. At this point any further retention will be reviewed and the data will be marked for deletion or marked for retention for a further period. The latter retention period is likely to occur only where the information is needed for legal proceedings, regulatory matters or active complaints. Deletion will be carried out (without further notice to you) as soon as reasonably practicable after the data is marked for deletion.

- until at least 7 years after the expiry of any relevant limitation period, for example the date on which you leave Chambers or your employment terminates, the date of the last provision of service or goods, the date of the last payment of your tax and NIC to HMRC, the date of the last fee payment made or received or the date on which all outstanding payments are written off, whichever is the latest. This is because it may be needed for potential legal proceedings or enquiries from Government agencies such as the LAA or HMRC or CPS or instructing solicitors regarding advice on appeal or making enquiries concerning fees at this point any further retention will be reviewed and the information will be marked for deletion or marked for retention for a further period. The latter retention period is likely to occur only where the information is needed for legal proceedings, regulatory matters or active complaints. Deletion will be carried out as soon as reasonably practicable after the information is marked for deletion.
- Equality and diversity data may be retained for a period of three years in pseudonym form for the purpose of research and statistics and complying with regulatory obligations in relation to the reporting of equality and diversity data.
- Personal information held for recruitment purposes or in relation to pupillage, internship or mini-pupillage will be stored for a period of three years for example the date on which you leave Chambers or your employment terminates, the date of the last provision of service or goods. This is because we may receive requests for references or enquiries from Government departments concerning your employment status and records held by us. At this point any further retention will be reviewed and the information will be marked for deletion or marked for retention for a further period. The latter retention period is likely to occur only where the information is needed for legal proceedings, regulatory matters or active complaints. Deletion will be carried out as soon as reasonably practicable after the information is marked for deletion.
- I will store some of your information which I need to carry out conflict checks for the rest of my career. However, this is likely to be limited to [your name and contact details/ the name of the case]. This will not include any information within categories (g) to (o) above.
- Information related to anti-money laundering checks will be retained until seven years after the completion of the transaction or the end of the business relationship, whichever is the later;]
- Names and contact details held for marketing purposes will be stored indefinitely or until I [or my clerks] become[s] aware or am[/are] informed that the individual has ceased to be a potential client.

Consent

As explained above, I am relying on your explicit consent to process your information in categories (g) to (o) above. You provided this consent when [you agreed that I would provide legal services/you asked me to provide a reference].

You have the right to withdraw this consent at any time, but this will not affect the lawfulness of any processing activity I have carried out prior to you withdrawing your consent. However, where I also rely on other bases for processing your information, you may not be able to prevent processing of your data. For example, if you have asked me to work for you and I have spent time on your case, you may owe me money which I will be entitled to claim.

If there is an issue with the processing of your information, please contact my clerks using the contact details below.

Security of your personal information

I will take all reasonable technical and organisational precautions to prevent the loss, misuse or alteration of your personal information. Any personal data is kept stored electronically on a password protected and encrypted server.

Note:- The ability to work remotely at Court, Solicitors Office or on Public Transport travelling to or from Court is a necessary component of my work as an independent Barrister; however, I understand that work cannot AND should not be conducted remotely if I am in circumstances where it makes it possible for others to view or be aware of personal information being processed by myself.
